Katherine is a BLP Associate in the Managua office. Her practice areas are Business Law and Global Mobility & Relocation.

In the practice of Business Law, she has advised national and foreign companies in the process of establishing their operations in Nicaragua, as well as in different aspects that enable efficient day-to-day business operations. She also has experience in regulatory compliance and the negotiation and preparation of commercial contracts.

In the area of Global Mobility & Relocation, she advises both local and transnational companies on the hiring of foreigners, work permits, residence applications, changes of status, categories, and special permits, as well as recognition of companies before the General Directorate of Immigration and Foreigners. She guides foreigners who wish to settle in the country as pensioners or investors in the qualification process.

She joined the BLP team as a legal assistant in 2021, being promoted to associate in 2022. She was previously an attorney at the law firm Navas & Navas.
